African Americana, Public History, and Museums: A Discussion

Stephanie Lampkin

Delaware Historical Society

April 7, 2020

12:30-1:30 pm

203 Munroe Hall

In this talk, Dr. Lampkin will share the work of the Jane and Littleton Mitchell Center for African American Heritage (MCAAH) at the Delaware Historical Society since its opening in Oct. 2016. The presentation will include highlights from the MCAAH's core exhibition Journey to Freedom and a discussion on the efforts to preserve, collect, and share Delaware's African American heritage that connects to larger issues in the fields of African American history and public history.
