REQUIREMENTS

THE HISTORY MAJOR
(30 credit hours)

The thirty-hour major includes the following requirements:

a. HIST 101 or HIST 103
b. HIST 102 or HIST 104
c. HIST 268
d. One History course before 1700, not including HIST 101 and HIST 103.
e. Three credit hours in African, Asian, Latin American, or Middle Eastern History. (268 excluded)
f. Twelve credits at the 300 level or above. (Independent of the HIST 4xx seminar requirement)
g. One History Seminar at the 400 level or above, excluding HIST 403, 464*, 468*, 491, 493 and Independent Study.

*Depending on topic

Note:
All history majors must take HIST268 in their sophomore year. If the history major is declared after the sophomore year, HIST268 must be taken the following semester. In all cases, HIST268 must be taken before a 400-level seminar.

[Effective for students matriculated fall 2009 or later]

History Minor Requirements

The History minor requires a minimum of fifteen credits, which are distributed as follows:

1. Three history courses at any level.
2. Two history courses at the 300 level or above, (excluding HIST 491 and 493).

The minor may be structured to permit concentration in a specific period, topic or approach, and fashioned to meet the individual needs of the student.

NOTE:
Only Education students are allowed to use HIST 491 toward a minor in History.
HISTORY MAJOR WITH CONCENTRATIONS
(36 credit hours)

Concentrations provide an opportunity for History majors to pursue a more focused program of study. Those who have clear career objectives or wish to go on to graduate studies may find the concentrations particularly helpful. Concentrations are offered in the following fields: American, European, or World History. Concentration options are available for all majors.

MAJOR REQUIREMENTS FOR CONCENTRATIONS:

Within the Department
- HIST 101 or HIST 103
- HIST 102 or HIST 104
- HIST268 History Seminar Note: HIST268 does NOT count toward concentration.
  - History Course in Asian, African, Latin American, or Middle Eastern History
  - History course before 1700, not including HIST 101 and HIST 103
  - Six courses in the field of concentration, four of which must be history courses at or above the 300-level. With written approval of the advisor, a student may take two of these courses outside the Department of History.
  - History seminar at the 400-level or above (excluding HIST403, 464*, 468*, 491, 493 and Independent Study)

Electives
After required courses are completed, sufficient elective credits must be taken to meet the minimum credit requirement for the degree.

PHI ALPHA THETA

The Department supports the campus chapter of Phi Alpha Theta, the international Honor Society in History. To be eligible for membership, an undergraduate must complete at least twelve semester hours in history, with a 3.1 average in history courses taken, and a 3.0 overall GPA excluding history. A maximum of 3 credit hours of online, transfer, or AP credits may be counted towards membership eligibility. Phi Alpha Theta, with chapters on college campuses in all fifty states, as well as Washington, D.C., Puerto Rico, Canada, and the Philippine Islands, is one of the most respected honor societies in the country. Its student members are eligible for one of a number of prizes and scholarship awards annually.

Initiation is held each spring for eligible students. Letters of invitation are mailed in early February. For more information, contact the Department of History, 236 John Munroe Hall.

HISTORY CLUB

The object of this organization is to assist fellow students in research (especially younger students, who may not have had to perform research of a similar level before), enhance our own analytical skills, and promote the appreciation of history within the student body of the University of Delaware. Membership is open to all full-time, matriculated undergraduate students at the University of Delaware who agree with the purpose and object of the group. Visit the History Club website to learn more.

Maps of Time: An Interdisciplinary Introduction to World History. This course surveys the major currents in human history from the theoretical emergence of cognitive fluidity ca. 70,000 BP to the first emergence of complex global economies four hundred years ago. We will draw heavily on the emerging field of Big History to piece together a story of migration, innovation, and adaptation on six continents. In lectures and assigned readings, students will be introduced to a corpus of work by geneticists, linguists, psychologists, archaeologists, anthropologists, sociologists and historians which together reveals an objective creation story appropriate for the Twenty-First Century human family. Topics covered include the beginnings of symbolic art, the spread of language, the origins of agriculture, the spread of metalworking, global patterns in energy consumption, the birth and decline of regional empires, and the rise of monotheistic and universal religions.

Introduction to Mohandas Gandhi’s profound contribution to India’s independence; to his strategies for peaceful struggle and to his criticism of “modern society.” We will examine prominent leaders and organizations that held radically different views about modern India.
HIST146.010: INTRO TO JEWISH CULTURE & HISTORY
Zavadikver   Limit 20 HIST seats   MW 3:35-4:50
This section satisfies multi-cultural requirement for the College of Arts and Sciences. This course offers a global survey of the history and culture of the Jewish people in ancient, medieval and modern times. We will explore the changing religious, cultural, social, and economic profiles of Jewish communities from ancient times to the present. Topics include migration, transmission and transformation of Judaism as a religion, sources of political authority in Judaism, processes of cultural integration and assimilation, gender and the role of women, modern intellectual and artistic movements, and Jewish responses to persecution. Sources include works of history and literature, personal accounts, maps, films and visual images. This course is cross-listed with JWST146.

HIST152.010: AMERICAN APOCALYPSE: THE CIVIL WAR
Heyrman    Limit 100   MWF 11:15-12:05
American Apocalypse explores the causes, character, and consequences of the Civil War. We will begin by investigating the deepening estrangement of North and South in the 1830s and 1840s and the pivotal role played by slavery in that process of alienation. Our attention turns next to the decade of the 1850s and the series of crises that propelled the South toward secession in 1861. A consideration of the fighting itself—and the impact of military conflict on the Confederate and Union home fronts—will follow. We will conclude the semester by assessing the Civil War’s legacy and lessons.

HIST156.010: AMERICAN SEXUALITIES
Davis    Limit 100   MWF 11:15-12:05
This class examines major themes in the histories of sexual behaviors, identities, and desires in the U.S. during the 19th and 20th centuries. We will explore topics such as marital sexuality/heterosexuality, abortion and contraception, sexual violence, prostitution, same-sex desires and queer identities, sexual revolutions and counter-revolutions, sexual science, and trans* histories. We will pay particular attention to how sexuality became a key component of American modernity and the focus of struggles for social justice. Readings will include both primary and secondary sources. Classroom discussions, debates, and student presentations will contribute to the learning process.

HIST170.010: PLAGUES AND PEOPLES IN HUMAN HISTORY
Duggan    Limit 70   MWF 9:05-9:55
Epidemics slaughter people far more effectively than wars (WW1 18 million, vs. 50+ million for the Great Influenza of 1918-19). Using William McNeill's classic Plagues and Peoples, this course will examine closely how societies in the past have explained and dealt with rampant killer diseases, e.g. the Black Death. Students will also do disease histories of their own families or of famous, well-documented families (e.g., the Medici of Florence) and investigate closely how one particular historic society understood and combated a particular disease.

HIST203.010: INTRODUCTION TO MUSEUMS
Van Horn    Limit 10 HIST seats   TR 12:30-1:45
Introduction to the history, operations and future of museums, historic sites, archives and related cultural organizations. Examines collecting and collection management, conservation of collections, exhibition development, public program and museum education, and digital outreach. Museum careers and volunteer engagement are explored. This course is cross-listed with MSST203/ARTH201

This course will survey the major social, cultural, and political developments in the United States from 1865 to the present.
In this course we will be learning about the history and development of Hollywood and the movie industry as modern business and spectacle, greatly influential in American (and world) culture today. We will be viewing and discussing certain classic American films and film genres. Topics include: the Hollywood celebrity machine and the “star system;” trends in direction and design; the “studio system,” business and corporate structure; themes of gender, race and “making it in America;” the gangster films; the Cold War and American filmmaking; sex, violence, and censorship.

This course focuses on the infamous "Final Solution," with particular emphasis on the roots of Anti-Semitism, National Socialist policies and plans, ghetto and camp life, the Einsatzgruppen, resistance, the politics of rescue and the art and literature of the Holocaust. This course is cross-listed with JWST254.

This course examines episodes of catastrophic upheaval in the Americas from colonial-era hurricanes to recent earthquakes, to understand how historians interpret what are often termed “natural disasters.” What social and cultural factors shape a community’s response to these events? What long-term impact on social structure and political organization does each have? How can we incorporate non-human agents, like disease pathogens and climatic forces, into our understanding of human history? Based on primary and secondary research, students will undertake their own social history of a “natural” disaster.

This course will explore the multiple effects of war on children in 20th century Africa. After a detailed general overview, the course will focus on child soldiers in wars in Sierra Leone; Sudan; Congo; Mozambique and Uganda. What has been the long term impact of these war experiences on child soldiers and their communities? This course will make extensive use of memoirs of child soldiers.

Fascism, communism, and to a lesser degree, anarchism, seemed to offer efficient and rapid solutions to the economic, social, and political troubles created by World War I and the Great Depression. For that reason, these ideologies captivated the imagination of many Europeans during the 1930s. However, the radical nature of their solutions took European politics to the brink of armed confrontation. This seminar will explore the developments that led up to that polarization through the study of the Spanish Civil War (1936-39) and the rise of the Nazi Party in Germany. Students will write a research paper based on a variety of primary sources available at the University library and the Internet.

HIST270.010: HISTORY OF MODERN ASIA
McLeod  Limit 44  TR 9:30-10:45
This section satisfies the History Department’s African, Asian, Latin American or Middle Eastern History Requirement.
Modern Asia uses lecture, video, discussion, and music to explore selected themes in Asian history from c. 1400 to the present, focusing this semester on the intertwined modern histories of China, Japan, and Vietnam. Topics include traditional empires and institutions, the impact of imperialism and world wars, the rise of nationalism and communism, the Chinese Revolution, Japan's post-war "Economic Miracle," Three Indochina Wars, including the "Vietnam Conflict," and the promises and perils of globalization.

HIST307.010: AMERICAN FOUNDERS & THE FIRST ROWDY DECADES OF THE EARLY REPUBLIC, 1789-1825
HIST307.011: SECOND WRITING SECTION
HIST307.080: HONORS SECTION
Heyrman  Limit 20/5/5  MWF 9:05--9:55
This course traces the development of the early American republic from the 1780s to the 1830s, decades which witnessed transformations in every sphere of life. The federal Constitution converted a confederation of sovereign states into a national republic. The rise of competing political parties fostered the emergence of a more democratic and participatory civic life. The spread of the market revolution and new transportation networks gave rise to a national market economy. The growing popularity of evangelical Christianity reconfigured ideals of womanhood, manhood, and the family. While those changes created new opportunities for some Americans, the early republic also became more unequal in fundamental ways: slavery followed the spread of white settlement throughout the South; federal and state governments forcibly removed Indian tribes west of the Mississippi. Lectures and readings focus on the debates among national political leaders about the structure, purposes, and policies of government, as well as on the experiences of ordinary Americans and their struggles to realize the Revolution’s ideals of liberty and equality. Sections 011 and 080 are offered as 2nd writing this semester.

From the assassination of Abraham Lincoln to the murder of John Lennon, the United States periodically has been roiled by the assassinations of leading political and social figures. Over the course of the semester, we shall examine these traumatic events and the people and circumstances surrounding them. As part of the weekly lectures and reading assignments, we also will consider the role of media and film in shaping assassinations and our understanding of them in U.S. history. There will be one mid-term exam, a paper, and a final.

HIST337.013: TOPICS IN AMERICAN HIST: AMERICAN SPORTS HISTORY
Lanctot
Limit 35
TR 3:30-4:45
This course will trace major developments in American sports history since the Civil War. A number of topics will be discussed including the professionalization of sports and the transformation from amateur game to big business, race and the evolving position of African American athletes, the effect of mass media, the shifting role of women, the creation of athletic celebrities, and the development of free agency. Although lectures and videos will comprise a good part of class time, class discussion is also an important component of this course. Requirements will include a midterm, final, and a term paper. Note: Knowledge of current sports is not a prerequisite for this course.

HIST338.010: ANCIENT GREEK-ROMAN SPORT & RECREATION
Sidebotham    Limit 50        MWF 11:15-12:05
Sport and recreation are aspects of antiquity which are seldom studied in their own right. Because of the close association with religion, an important facet of classical civilization, the study of sports and recreation should reveal more of the psyche of the Greek and Roman people. The course covers the period c. 2000 B.C. to the 5th century A.D. from the point of view of spectator and participant. It will cover the main sporting and recreational activities of the Greeks and Romans; various games (Olympian, Nemean, Isthmian, Pythian), jumping, running, discus, javelin, wrestling, pentathlon, boxing, pankration, women in sports, Roman gladiatorial contests as well as bathing, music, dance, literature and travel. The course should give students enough knowledge of technical matters to be able to enjoy further exposure to classical life.

A survey of European literature, painting, and music from the climax of absolute monarchy in the early 18th century, the Baroque, to the emergence of modernism between the world wars. Classicism, romanticism, and impressionism will be among the artistic styles covered. The connection between culture and political and economic events will be noted. Readings will be in Goethe, Dickens, Dostoyevsky and others.

Wasson    Limit 35        MWF 11:15-12:05
Our world is the product of innovations in technology and economic organization that led to industrialization. What triggered this process? What have been the consequences? How did this give the edge in productivity to the West over India and China after 1800? Everything from science to slavery contributed. To explain the growth of large cities, mass democracy, big business, mechanized warfare, the move towards gender equality, and environmental catastrophe we need to understand the interaction between technology, organization, and innovation.

HIST341.010: ANCIENT ROME
Sidebotham Limit 60        MWF 1:25-2:15
Course covers period 753 B.C. to A.D. 337. Emphasis on politics, economics, social and religious practices, the Rise of Rome, and the wars with Carthage, and the other seemingly unending bloody conflicts with her neighbors. The course will also address the fall of the Republic and birth of the Empire under Augustus, and how Rome maintained its empire for so long, and why it eventually fell.

History of the Soviet Union: An in-depth survey of major trends in Soviet history from the revolutions of 1917 to the revolution of 1991. In addition to basic political and economic history, we will stress social and cultural developments. Themes will include the origins of the Bolshevik revolution, the rise of Stalinism, social and cultural life in the 1920s and 1930s, the effects of World War II, party, state, and society in the Khrushchev and Brezhnev years, and the cultural and social revivals of the 1960s and 1970s. We will also spend time on developments during the Gorbachev years and the revolutionary events of 1991. There are no pre-requisites for the course, but students are encouraged to approach the history of the Soviet Union with an open mind--to challenge and change prejudices and preconceptions derived from our own Cold War history.

HIST360.010: REVOLUTIONARY FRANCE: 1789-1871
White Limit 35 MWF 10:00-11:00
France between 1789 and 1871 was sometimes dangerous but never dull. The great Revolution of 1789 inspired hope in some people and fear in others, and it effects were felt not only across Europe but also in places as distant as Egypt and modern-day Haiti. In France itself, the meaning and legacy of the Revolution would be fought over for decades to come. By the time the Paris Commune was crushed in 1871 France had been a republic three times, a monarchy three times, and an empire twice: all that in the space of eighty years! In this course, we will use primary and secondary sources to analyze France’s revolutionary century, paying close attention to the ideas and actions of individuals like Napoleon Bonaparte who left an indelible mark on France and the world. As well as political upheavals, we will consider developments that were just as revolutionary in their own way, in industry, religion, urbanization, and the arts, and in the colonization of overseas territories like Algeria.

HIST365.010: TOPICS IN ASIAN AND PACIFIC HISTORY: SOUTH ASIA SINCE 1600
Rawat Limit 40 TR 11:00-12:15
Satisfies the second writing requirement this semester

This introductory course will provide an outline of major events and themes in South Asian history from the Mughal Empire in the 16th century to the re-emergence of India as a global player in the 21st century. Topics will include society and economy in Mughal India; global trade between South Asia and the West in the 17th century; the rise of the English East India Company’s control over the Indian subcontinent in the 18th century; Britain’s emergence as a colonial power and the transformation of South Asia into a colonial economy; social and religious reform movements in the 19th century; the emergence of elite and popular anti-colonial nationalisms; independence and the partition of the subcontinent; the emergence of the world’s largest democracy; recent changes in the South Asian economy; and the making of a new Indian middle class.
HIST368.010: MODERN CHINA: 1600s TO PRESENT
Wang
Limit 35
TR 3:30-4:45
Satisfies the second writing requirement this semester as well as the multicultural requirement.
This course introduces students to modern Chinese history from 1600 to the present. It provides students with insights into several issues that significantly influenced modern Chinese history with the aim of understanding what China was in the past, what China is today, and what China might be in the future. The course chronologically examines China’s changes in order to illustrate a dynamic image of China that has dominated the East Asian world for centuries. Students will explore the rise and prosperity of Manchu-ruled Qing dynasty, China’s decline with the coming of Western powers in the nineteenth century, China’s transformation into a modern nation-state after the nationalist and communist revolutions in the first half of the twentieth century, and the People’s Republic of China’s rise since the second half of the twentieth century.

HIST371.010: POSTWAR JAPAN
Flaherty
Limit 35
TR 2:00-3:15
This course satisfies the group B requirement for the College of Arts & Sciences.
This course traces the history of Japan from empire’s end in World War II to the recent past. The course will focus on the context of postwar culture and daily life through Japanese sources including film, literature, art and essays. When did the Emperor become human? How did “decadence” become the watchword in the late 1940s? What was the economic “miracle” and “bubble”? What was AMPO and what did its art look like? Japanese baseball? Why do we drive Japanese cars and use computers that have so many parts produced by Japanese companies? What did auto mobilization have to do with hollowing out? Why is 3/11 a “code for tragedy”? The course examines these and other questions.

HIST373.010: MODERN IRELAND: 1660-PRESENT
HIST373.011: SECOND WRITING SECTION
Montaño
Limit 20/10
TR 11:00-12:15
ONLY section 011 satisfies the second writing requirement of the College of Arts and Science.
This survey of Irish history will cover the period between the plantations and partition. The issues of “Irishness” and Anglo-Irish relations—cultural, religious, economic, social, and political—will dominate the lecture topics. Readings will include Irish myths, Irish literature, and Anglo-Irish political debates, all with an eye towards Irish, Unionist, and English constructions of Ireland and the Irish. There will be no attempt to resolve the longstanding/current conflict in this course.

HIST374.010: HISTORY OF ENGLAND TO 1688
Montaño
Limit 35
TR 2:00-3:15
This is an introductory survey of English history from the War of the Roses to the end of the Stuart dynasty. The course will examine the relationship between social, economic, religious, intellectual, and constitutional developments as well as the transition from the medieval to the early modern period. The readings will emphasize the use of primary materials as cultural evidence, with special attention paid to the tensions between tradition and innovation in these years. A key question throughout will be the merits of focusing on continuity or change in English history.
HIST381.010: ISLAM AND THE WEST: THE HISTORY OF MUTUAL PERCEPTIONS
HIST381.080: HONORS SECTION
Both sections satisfy the Multi-cultural requirement for the College of Arts and Sciences.
Matthee Limit 30/5 MWF 2:30-3:20
Mutual views between the West and the Islamic world have long been marked by fear, suspicion, as well as fascination. This course examines the origins of these views, and traces their evolution over time in light of military aggression, commercial expansion, travel and discovery. We will see how “our” current anxieties about Muslim terrorism and “their” resentment of the West originated in medieval religious polemics, how they perpetuate the imagery created during the Crusades and the Ottoman conquests in southeastern Europe, and how in modern times they have been influenced by colonialism and Zionism. But you will also learn how mutual fear and suspicion are intertwined with the lure of the other, how Westerners have often found escapism in the “exotic” Orient, while Muslims continue to be seduced by the promises of modernity and political freedom.

HIST382.010: HISTORY OF WESTERN MEDICINE
HIST382.080: HISTORY OF WESTERN MEDICINE
Virdi Limit 30/5 MWF 1:25-2:15
This course examines the intellectual and social history of medicine in the West, with an emphasis on changes in medical theory and practice during the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Topics include the laboratory revolution and rise of germ theory; the role of midwives and nurses in medical care; medical professionalization and debates about quackery; changing disease patterns and therapies; and state vs. individual responsibility in matters of public health.

HIST388.010: AMERICAN INDIAN HISTORY

In its larger and oldest sense, political economy marries historical inquiry and social criticism. This seminar seeks to do much the same as it introduces the American debates over authority, power, and democratic possibility, particularly as these have developed since the advent of corporate capitalism. The "managerial revolution;" the idea and significance of the middle class; the problems posed by meritocracy and by inherited privilege; and the questions forced by the American imperium ...these are among the topics to be covered. PREREQUISITE: HIST268 INTRO TO HIST SEMINAR or consent of Department.

HIST471.080: HONORS SECTION
Callahan  Limit 12/3  T 3:35-6:35

BOTH sections satisfy 2nd writing requirement.
This seminar will examine the political, social, economic, religious and intellectual development of Europe in the “century of iron”. Particular attention will be given to the monastic achievements of the period and to relations between East and West. The final grade will be based on a research paper of at least fifteen pages and on the amount and quality of seminar discussion. PREREQUISITE: HIST268 INTRO TO HIST SEMINAR or consent of Department.

HIST479.010: SEMINAR IN ASIAN HIST: U.S. – CHINA RELATIONS
Wang  Limit 15  TR 11:00-12:15
This course satisfies the Multi-cultural requirement for the College of Arts and Sciences. This seminar explores U.S’ relations with China from 1784 to the present. It discusses how the U.S. and China became enemies from friends during the past two centuries through some major historical events that have had profound political, diplomatic, military, economic, social, and cultural impacts on American, Chinese, and East Asian history. These events include U.S.–China tea trade and commercial treaties, Chinese immigration to the U.S. and Chinese Exclusion Act, the Burlingame Mission to the U.S., American missionaries in China, the Open Door Policy, the Boxer Indemnity Scholarship, the Chinese Civil War and Taiwan, the Korean War and U.S.–China conflicts, the Cold War, the American motion to drop A-bombs on Communist China, Ping-Pong Diplomacy, the Tian’anmen Square Massacre, and China’s US-oriented globalization. PREREQUISITE: HIST268 INTRO TO HIST SEMINAR or consent of Department. No prior knowledge of Chinese history is required.

GRADUATE COURSE OFFERINGS

HIST617.010: SEMINAR IN WOMEN & GENDER HISTORY
Davis
Limit 12
W 2:30-5:30
This reading seminar introduces students to major historical themes and historiographical trends in the histories of women, gender, and sexuality in North America. Readings will include the period of European encounter with native populations in North America and the transatlantic slave trade, the colonial period and Early Republic, and the nineteenth and twentieth centuries. Topics will include racial, ethnic, and religious diversity (and intersectionality) in these fields, women and gender in American politics, gender as a category of analysis, and sexuality (and "queer" history) as an interpretive lens.

HIST663.010: HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE PUBLIC
Fraccia
Limit 2 HIST seats
TR 9:30-10:45
Provides practical experience through involvement in a project at an agency, research center or museum which researches, interprets, administers and preserves historical archaeological resources for the public. For students planning careers in historical archaeology, public history, university teaching, the museum field and historic preservation. This course is cross-listed with ANTH and MSST.

HIST667.010: HISTORY OF WORK
Horowitz
Limit 12
M 6:00-9:00
This class will be a relentlessly transnational survey of key conceptual issues related to the history of work. It will start with the “classic” formulations of the problem of work in European and American contexts, and move to the reformulations of issues pertaining to work in other regions and cultures. Its intent will be to equip students working in range of topical areas such as history of capitalism, history of technology, and material culture with the conceptual framing to evaluate work practices that emerge in their research. It will be equivalently concerned with how work provides an arena and avenue for racial, ethnic, national, and gender formations.
HIST667.011: TEACHING COLLEGE-LEVEL HISTORY
Mohun Limit 15 W 6:00-9:00
(1 cr course running 4/4/18 through 5/2/18)
This short course is designed for graduate students interested in teaching history at the College level. Topics will include: course design, assessment and grading, oral presentation(lecturing), group work, and classroom management.

HIST867.010: RES & WRITING: MATERIAL CULTURE
Grier Limit 10 R 2:00-5:00
History graduate students only or permission of instructor.
This writing seminar introduces students to material culture research and to digital methods of presenting original work to public audiences. No prior experience is required. Material culture scholarship based in the discipline of history seeks to reconstitute, explain, and interpret the roles objects have played over time in systems of production and consumption, social life, and the communication of both cultural ideals and commonsense understandings of the world. Selected supporting readings will relate to the history and material culture of disposability. Students will create long-form digital essays or digital exhibitions for the website Disposable America (https://disposableamerica.org).

HIST867.011: RES & WRITING: AMERICAN CIVILIZATION
Anishanslin Limit 10 M 2:30-5:30
History graduate students only or permission of instructor.
This writing seminar introduces students to research related to producing scholarship on the History of American Civilization, or “Am Civ.” No prior experience is required. Am Civ is a field of study that cuts across a wide chronology—from the earliest contact between Europeans, Africans, and Native Americans through the twentieth century, in what is now the United States. Our own Am Civ program is also a field of study characterized by a methodology that privileges interdisciplinarity and an embrace of material and visual culture. Topics investigated within this broad, interdisciplinary scholarship are varied and diverse, embracing everything from fashion to politics, though this course will encourage students to think about what object- and image-driven American history looks like across time and space. For the final project, there will be both a public history and a more traditional essay option.

MUSEUM STUDIES COURSES
www.udel.edu/museumstudies

MSST 203.010: INTRO TO MUSEUMS
Van Horn Limit 10 TR 12:30-1:45
Core course for the Museum Studies Certificate Program. Introduction to the history of museums and examines selected current issues in museum professional practice. Content may offer discussion of issues in collecting and exhibition practice, education and audience development, evolving professional ethics, and museum governance.
This course is cross-listed with ARTH201/HIST203.

MSST 402.010 / 602.010: ARCHIVES & PAPER COLLECTIONS
Rifenburg Limit 10 T 6:00-9:00
Introduction to theory and best practices in collecting and management of archives and paper collections in museums, archives and other collecting institutions. Topics include collecting, processing and access, and care of manuscripts, paper ephemera, photographs and other paper formats. Combines classroom instruction, demonstrations and field trips with group and individual hands-on projects. An undergraduate MSST 402.010 section meets with a graduate MSST 602.010 section.

MSST 663.010: HISTORICAL ARCHAEOLOGY AND THE PUBLIC
Fraccia Limit 5/2 MSST seats TR 9:30-10:45
Provides practical experience through involvement in a project at an agency, research center or museum which researches, interprets, administers and preserves historical archaeological resources for the public. For students planning careers in historical archaeology, public history, university teaching, the museum field and historic preservation. This course is cross-listed with ANTH and HIST.

MSST 464.010: INTERNSHIP: HISTORIC HOUSE CONFIDENTIAL!
Grier Limit 10 F 1:25-4:25
This course satisfies the DLE requirement for the College of Arts and Sciences.
Go behind the scenes at the 18th century house museums of historic New Castle, Delaware, and learn what makes them tick. Then participate in a group project to create new interpretations for museum visitors. The class meets regularly on Friday afternoons; other hours can be arranged as your schedule permits. This project meets the internship requirement for the Museum Studies Minor.

MSST 467.010 / 667.010: LEADERSHIP BOARDS & SENIOR STAFF
Battisti Limit 6/6 F 1:25-4:25
(1 cr. short course running from 2/9/18 through 3/9/18)
This course aims to give future non-profit employees a look at finding success in the challenging yet rewarding non-for-profit sector. We will look closely at leadership and the ways in which a senior staff, director and board member keeps his institution viable. The readings and presentations in class will be amplified by the appearance of practicing Board members, Executive Directors and senior staff that will relate their experiences. In five classes we will explore the traits of a fully functioning Board of Trustees, discuss the elements of leadership and the reasons why some organizations succeed and others struggle. The course is designed for students that aspire to executive level positions at non-profit organizations such as museums and public gardens. The information provided will also be helpful to those serving on boards, active volunteers, and persons with a general interest in the mechanics of building philanthropic potential.

MSST 467.011 / 667.011: BUDGETING & FINANCE IN NON-PROFITS
Staff Limit 6/6 F 1:25-4:25
(1 cr. short course running from 3/16/18 through 4/20/18)
An intro to the principles and practical realities of budgeting and financial planning for museums and historical organizations.

MSST 804.000: MUSEUM INTERNSHIP
Hutchins Limit 15 TBA
Internship practice in administration, collections management, exhibition and interpretation at museums and related institutions. Students spend ten full weeks, or the equivalent, at the University museum, Winterthur Museum, Longwood Gardens or other acceptable institution.
